After Moses brought the ten commandments to Jerusalem they were kept safe in the temple. Unfortunately, the temple was destroyed twice and the ten commandments were destroyed too. The only part of the temple that remains is the western wall. Jews go on pilgrimage to the western wall as this the place where they feel closest to God. They write their prayers and intentions down on paper and place them between the bricks as they believe they will be answered.
Dear Lord,

thank you for being the one that is always there for me, answers my prayers, listens to my cries, and blesses me with your unconditional love.

Dear God, thank you for everything.
• Write your prayer or your deepest hope. The Western Wall is said to have the “ear of God.” Find West in your garden and place your prayer in a Western spot. Take a moment to reflect on your prayer or thought.
